World War 2 - 1942

John Thompson Strategic analyst quotes from his book "Spirit Over Steel"

Feb 8th: General Homma calls for more reinforcements in the Philippines, American resistance thus far has been more formidable than was planned on. The 5th, 18th and Imperial Guard Divisions stage a successful crossing onto Singapore Island.

Feb 10th: The Pacific War Council (UK, Australia, Netherlands, and New Zealand) meets in London. The British defence on Singapore falters, partly because of confused communications – again. Japanese forces cross the Salween in Burma.

Feb 11th: The Japanese on the northern edge of Singapore Island easily fend off a counterattack; the defenders retire to the City of Singapore itself. Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen start their run up the English Channel – en route to home ports that aren't in easy range of British bombers.

Feb 12th: Japanese soldiers on Banka Island in Indonesia murder a number of survivors from a vessel that sank after it fled Singapore: Among those dead are several dozen wounded and 21 Australian nurses who were deliberately machine gunned by Japanese infantrymen. Inattentiveness has its price, Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Prinz Eugen and their escorts brush off minor British attacks in their ‘Channel Dash’ and make it into the North Sea en route to Norway. One attack brings much German admiration for the naked courage of six Swordfish torpedo bombers which flew into a storm of flak in a failed attempt to hit Scharnhorst, with only five of the 18 crewmen surviving the complete destruction of their squadron. Lt Cdr Eugene Esmonde, an Irishman in the Royal Navy’s Fleet Air Arm, led the attack and receives a posthumous Victoria Cross.

Feb 13th: German Resistance has firmed up since December, but Soviet raiding detachments have now reached as far as Belarus. Britain can rest easy; the German plans for Operation Sealion are finally and officially shelved. Matvey Kuzmitch Kuzmin is an 83 year old man, and no friend of the Communist Party; but when he is paid to guide German troops along a back route to the Soviet defences on the Malkino Heights, the elderly poacher sees to it they walk into a pre-arranged ambush. During the fight, the German officer who engaged Kuzmin as a guide kills him; but Kuzmin posthumously becomes the oldest man ever inducted into the ranks of Hero of the Soviet Union as a warrior.

Feb 14th: Faced with the chronic inaccuracy of night bombing, the RAF decides to start deliberately “wide bombing” in industrial cities and attack civilians. Japanese paratroopers descend on Palembang on Sumatra. In a time of despair and defeat, the brave resolve to go down fighting... One such is a 43 year old temporary Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve aboard a beat up passenger steamer converted into a gun boat. But when Thomas Wilkinson sights two Japanese convoys and their escorts in the Java Sea off Malaya, he tells the crew of HMS Li Wo that he will engage the foe to the end. His men snarl their agreement and bring their tramp steamer to battle – they set a Japanese transport on fire and duel a cruiser for an hour before their vessel is sunk by gunfire. Lt Wilkinson is posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross to recognize a valiant ship and crew

Vancouver Artillery Association Yearbook Updates

We’ve been working on some material in the recent past. There’s an Annual report on the 2016 yearbook page as well as some updates on our fundraising efforts

<http://www.vancouvergunners.ca/2016.html>

Added 100 new names to the on-line nominal roll for a total of 2500 members that have served with 15th Field Artillery Regiment RCA at some time in their career. We’ve added a new page, the 2017 Yearbook, and have already added pictures there from the party. Check it out and send me any of the pictures that you took. <http://www.vancouvergunners.ca/2017.html>

There's new pictures from a Warrant Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Dinner in 2006.

You can also go back thirty years ago for a photo of the Soldiers' Christmas Dinner. Were you there? <http://www.vancouvergunners.ca/1987.html>

Regimental Birthday Party/Reunion

Wasn't that a party? The snowstorm made for a few cancellations but we still had 44 for dinner! Speaking of which, Mrs Lum did a fantastic job on the hors d'oeuvres and the roast beef.

The Regiment provided an opportunity to talk to the Artillery Technicians in the Command Post. There were some odd looks when the topic of Arty Boards or Milipacs came up but that just shows the amazing changes in the Gunner world over the last forty years. Former Regimental Sergeant Major Chief Warrant Officer Vic Yano presented the Vancouver Artillery Association with his pace stick for the use of the "Old Guard" the next time that they're on parade. Sergeant Darwin Harmon donated his Patrols to the Association for our use. Unfortunately, most of the Association physiques do not quite match the youthful figure of Sergeant Darwin. We were also pleased to receive new photographs for the website from another former Regimental Sergeant Major Dave Levien and one of our former Battery Commanders Ian Newby. They are being scanned and will be placed on the website as they become available. Any assistance you can provide in identifying the thousands of photographs that are now on-line would be greatly appreciated. www.vancouvergunners.ca

The fundraising venture for the 25 Pounder Uniform project has now moved ahead by another $600.00 and the door prizes of the Regimental Bear, Bessborough history books and stable belt appeared to have been warmly received by all. The Bear was won by one of our former Commanding Officers, Lieutenant-Colonel Kent Wickens, who chose the CADPAT TW version while the stable belt was won by Mrs Archie Pell. The Armoury history books were won by Clay Harmon and Lisa Abbott.

The big comment for the evening was, "Looking forward to the 2018 birthday party!"
